Tints rather than colors, subdued effects rather than pronounced contrasts, these are what constitute the charm of stained shingles, and make even the low cost house a thing of beauty. No house, no matter how cheap or ordinary in architecture can be regarded as common place if the shingles are stained to match the woodwork or general color tone of the building.

Shingletint is a scientific combination of linseed oil, coloring matter, creosote oils, and the necessary drying agents and produces the most artistic and durable color effects know on shingles.

Jobbers, Architects, Builders, Roofers and Owners everywhere, have found MF Roofing Tin to be the most satisfactory roof covering known.

MF

For sixty years MF Terne Plates have held an enviable place in the estimation of all, because of their thick, perfect coating of pure tin and new lead; their freedom from pinholes, and their ability to withstand indefinitely the actions of the severest climates.

Good work requires good material and satisfied customers are better assets than a few dollars saved in first cost.

Make MF your Standard—then live under or upon that Standard.

Write to W. C. Cronemeyer, Advertising Agent, 222 Frick Building, for our attractive literature upon all our many products.

Niagara Wall Tie or Brick Bond.

Niagara Veneer Tie or Brick Bond.

For securing Brick to Frame in Brick Veneer Buildings.

These TIES or BONDS are made of the best steel, galvanized. Scientifically they are perfect, having the principles of the keystone, and offering a greater resistance than any other bond. They cannot be started a particle without starting every part at once, and that is about impossible. Can be bent readily to conform to uneven surfaces. Low in price, strong, handy, immovable and unbreakable. Put up compactly, three gross in a strong wooden box, with locked and glued corners.

THE LUPTON Fire-proof Hollow-metal WINDOW

Glazed with wired glass

meets the need of the hour.

The Lupton Window is especially designed to correct the fatal weakness of fire-proof construction. Made of sheet steel (or copper) and glazed with wired glass, it is an absolutely effective barrier against the entrance of flames at window openings.

It can be furnished with Revolving Sliding Sashes, a valuable feature of construction, especially in tall buildings, because of the advantages of expedition, ease and safety in cleaning.

And it can be provided with The Lupton Automatic Closing device, which can be depended upon to tightly shut the window on the approach of fire.

Write for "The Window Book," showing by illustration and description, wherein The Lupton Window is superior to any other metal window.

Dear Sirs:-

We have just received a copy of the 14th annual edition of your publication. This book impresses us very favorably, not only on account of its general appearance, but as we glance over the pages it shows great care and practical skill in compiling. We must confess that when we agreed to advertise in this directory we did so with some reluctance, because we do not look favorably upon directories. Yours has been an exception, and we thank you for the excellent display which you have given us, which we believe has already led to good results. Several orders have been received which we can trace directly to you, and we are so favorably impressed with the success of your work for us that we shall be glad to have you reserve for us in your next edition the same amount of space as we have in the present one; that is, two pages.

We have a large number of branch offices and a rather extensive selling department, but notwithstanding this we find that you furnish us with information in advance, giving us pointers which lead directly to business.

Assuring you of our best consideration and interest, and again congratulating you upon the work you are doing, we remain,

Yours truly,

THE INGERSOLL-SERGEANT DRILL.

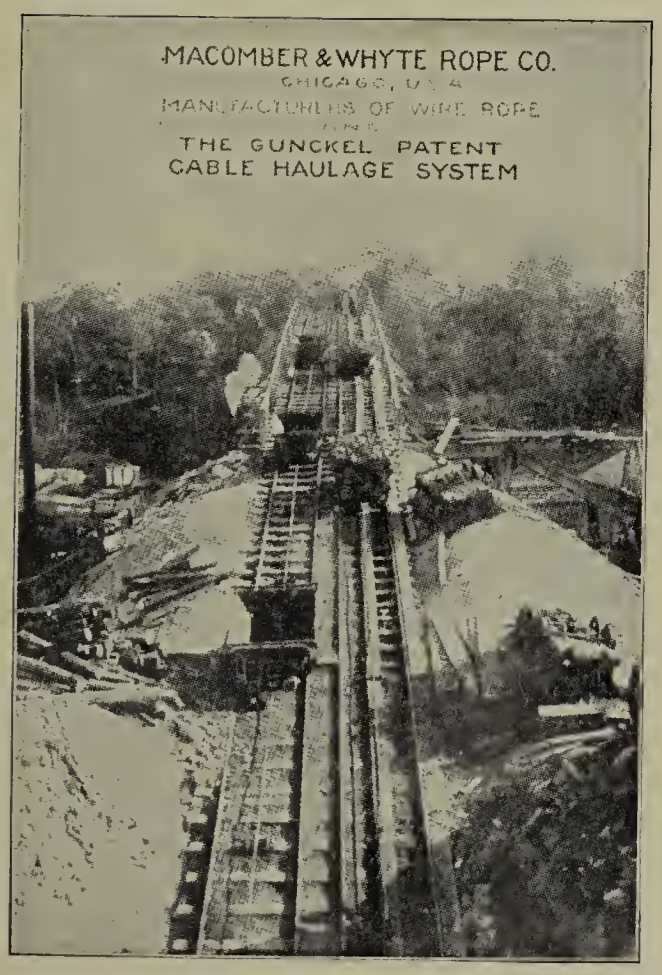
NATIONAL

MARINE AND HOISTING ROPES



OF the finest grades of wire are not made by the old-fashioned "Rule-of-thumb." We maintain physical and chemical laboratories solely for testing the material that enters into our ropes and the physical qualities are tested several times during the process of manufacture. The life of the rope depends upon the quality and the cost upon the length of service. Why not buy the best which in this line is really the cheapest?

Oct.15,1904.

Messrs.S.E.Hendricks Co.,

76 Elm St.,New York,N.Y.

Gentlemen:-

We would like to exchange the old copy for the new one and will appreciate the courtesy.

You have not put us under too many headings. In addition we should like to be indexed under cranes,locomotive,steam and electric, and hoisting and conveying machinery as you suggest. Also hoists,electric and steam.

We sell an occasional derrick. We make hoisting engines for contractors,and we have a line of clutches which we adapt to rolling mill machinery. At present we have just furnished an order for the National Tube Company,which you know is one of the largest concerns in the world in the rolling mill line. We are also manufacturers of buckets,motors,car dumpers,and blast furnace machinery.

The New Castle Electric Company and the Penna. & Mahoning Valley Railway Company,both of which concerns the writer is helping to run are using your Register with a great deal of satisfaction and we shall be glad to recommend it still further if you so desire. How we have overlooked it so far I can not quite make out.

We hand you herewith one of our general bulletins,and we will keep you advised of our publications from time to time.

Very truly yours,

THE BROWNING ENGINEERING CO.,

WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY

Now in Practical Use the World Over.

(Memphis, Tenn., Commercial Appeal, Aug. 28, 1904.)

It has long been pointed out that one of the most practical uses of wireless telegraphy, commercially, is between places divided by the ocean, either on account of the expense involved or because of the rocky nature of the shore, which would speedily chafe and destroy a cable. A notable example of this use of wireless telegraphy is the recent installation of a De Forest wireless circuit between Bocas del Toro, Panama and Port Limon, Costa Rico, for the convenience of the fruit growers and merchants of that neighborhood. The distance between these points is seventy miles, and the service has been satisfactory from the start. In a number of instances the ability to communicate between the fruit grower and the shipper at critical times has resulted in the saving of many thousands of dollars.

(The Bocas del Toro and Port Limon stations are operated by the United Fruit Company, and are the nucleus of an extensive Mexican, Central and South American System of De Forest wireless circuits.)

WIRELESS TELEGRAPH.

(Wall Street Journal, Aug. 2, 1904.)

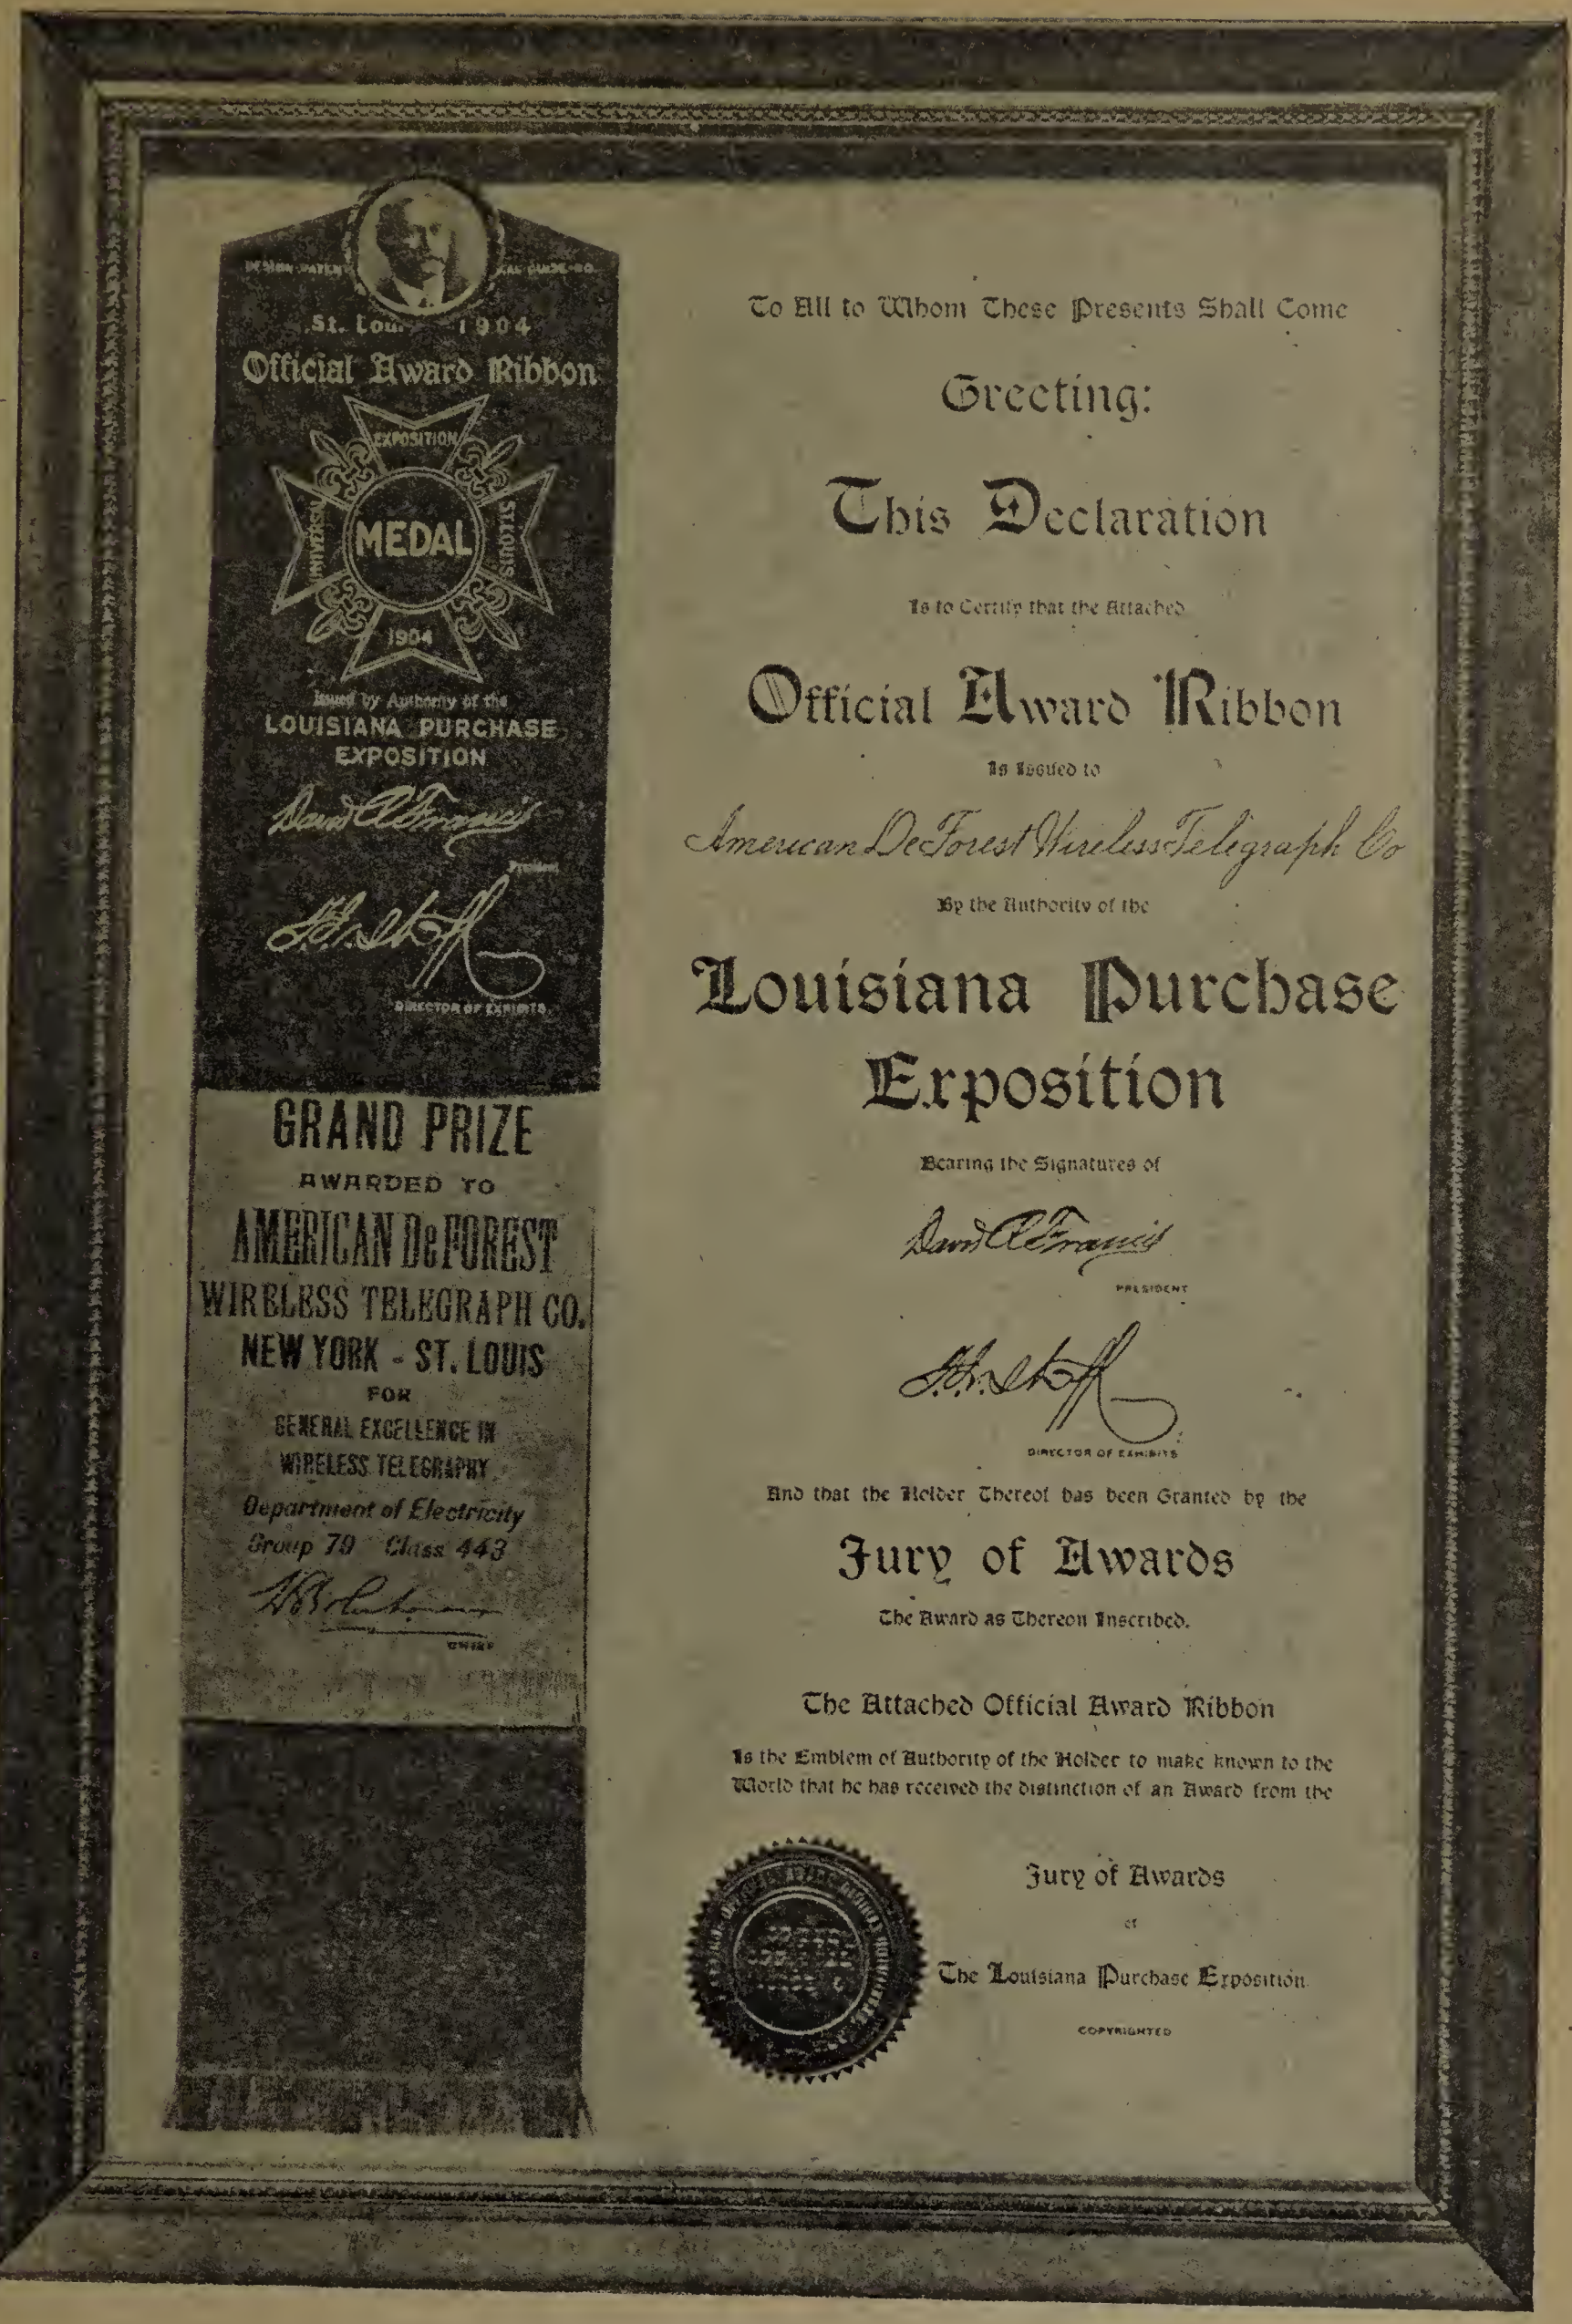
The Navy Department has purchased from the American De Forest Wireless Telegraph Company six sets of electrolytic receivers for use in navy service.

The object of the Navy Department in purchasing these receivers was to displace the German instruments now in use. The instruments are deliverable at the Navy Yard, Brooklyn. This is regarded as signifying the intention of the Navy Department to Americanize the wireless telegraph system of the Navy.



Our system has been adopted, and is now in use, by the U. S. Government in the following departments: U. S. Navy, U. S. Army, War Department, U. S. Signal Corps and Weather Bureau; and is the only practical Wireless system in use in the United States.

Its commercial value is inestimable. We can install and operate for you our System between widely separated Plants, Mines, Lumber Camps, &c., &c., at a less price than can be done through PRIVATE TELEPHONE LINES.

Communicate with our Main Office, describing your wants, and we will quote prices for complete installation, and guarantee full satisfaction.
